Chair's welcome from Gilli Bush-Bailey

Welcome to TaPRA's 13th Annual Conference and a big thank you already to the University of Salford's team for giving us all the opportunity to experience the wonderful performance and working spaces in their truly impressive new university building.

TaPRA continues to grow in numbers and visibility within the research community and beyond. In the past year we have once again collaborated with SCUDD in response to further consultations regarding the next REF. Nominations for the David Bradby, ECR and PGR awards continue to demonstrate the depth and reach of the field and this year, we have also introduced a new research award to recognise the important role of the editor(s) in delivering research excellence in the competitive field of journal and book publication. The first TaPRA Fellowship is well underway, and we are looking forward to more collaborations with partners who can offer an ECR the match funded opportunity to undertake a short research project leading to a publication opportunity. Please encourage your own working group to consider potential partners in your specialist area. The executive committee is also looking forward to hearing your response to the new TaPRA website. We hope you will find it easier to use, more interesting and generally more useful! The committee continues to look at new ways to support the work of the membership and we are always interested in new suggestions and initiatives that extend the engagements of the working groups in cross-disciplinary and collaborative ways, particularly through the many successful interim events.

This is the third and final year of my term as Chair of TaPRA and so at the AGM we will formally invite the membership to make nominations for my successor. Voting will take place in October and the handover to the new Chair will take place at our post-conference executive committee meeting in November.

I have really enjoyed the opportunity of being TaPRA's Chair over the past three years. I have been reminded of the generosity of members who give considerable time and energy to their roles on the executive committee, and the extent to which the success of our thirteen working groups relies on the commitment and efficiency of their conveners. As an association of individual members it is, of course, up to all of us to ensure that TaPRA continues to be a supportive and challenging organization. Please take the opportunity of this conference to encourage colleagues to stand for election to the executive committee offices that need filling in the coming year - and why not consider standing yourself? Our annual conference gives us the opportunity to meet old friends and make some new ones, to exchange ideas, forge collaborations and contribute to the diversity of our growing research environment. On behalf of your executive committee – have an excellent conference.

Welcome to Salford

Welcome to the University of Salford and the New Adelphi building. As an institution, we are fast approaching our 50th anniversary. From L.S Lowry's honorary degree to a visit from The Smiths, New Order and the Happy Mondays, from the opening of the Lowry Theatre in Salford Quays to the development of our Salford Quays MediaCity campus, the University has grown and developed over the last fifty years and its community has witnessed many memorable moments. In our short time as academics at Salford, we have seen the School of Arts and Media move into the New Adelphi building (of which we are very proud). We have also been here for the appointment of Jackie Kay as our University Chancellor, for the opening of the School's Practice as Research Centre of Excellence and now, for the hosting of the 2017 TaPRA conference. These are exciting developments for The School of Arts and Media and the University of Salford as a whole, but particularly for us in the Directorate of Performance and English.

For many years, the University of Salford has prided itself in developing and maintaining industry links. As a result, the majority of lecturers within our directorates are both academics and practitioners. Our newly established Practice as Research Centre of Excellence embraces this intersection, through its aim to support, prompt and make visible PaR activity across the School of Arts and Media and beyond.

Many of our colleagues from the Performance and English Directorate are here at the conference and join us in welcoming you all. If you find one or two of them in your working group please corner them and ask them what it is we do here. I'm sure, like us, they will be only too happy to discuss the research within our Directorate, which is varied and encompasses areas such as comedy studies, intermedial, applied and contemporary performance. We hope this rich and vibrant research culture is in evidence during the conference. More importantly, we hope you have a brilliant time here and come back to visit us again in Salford soon.

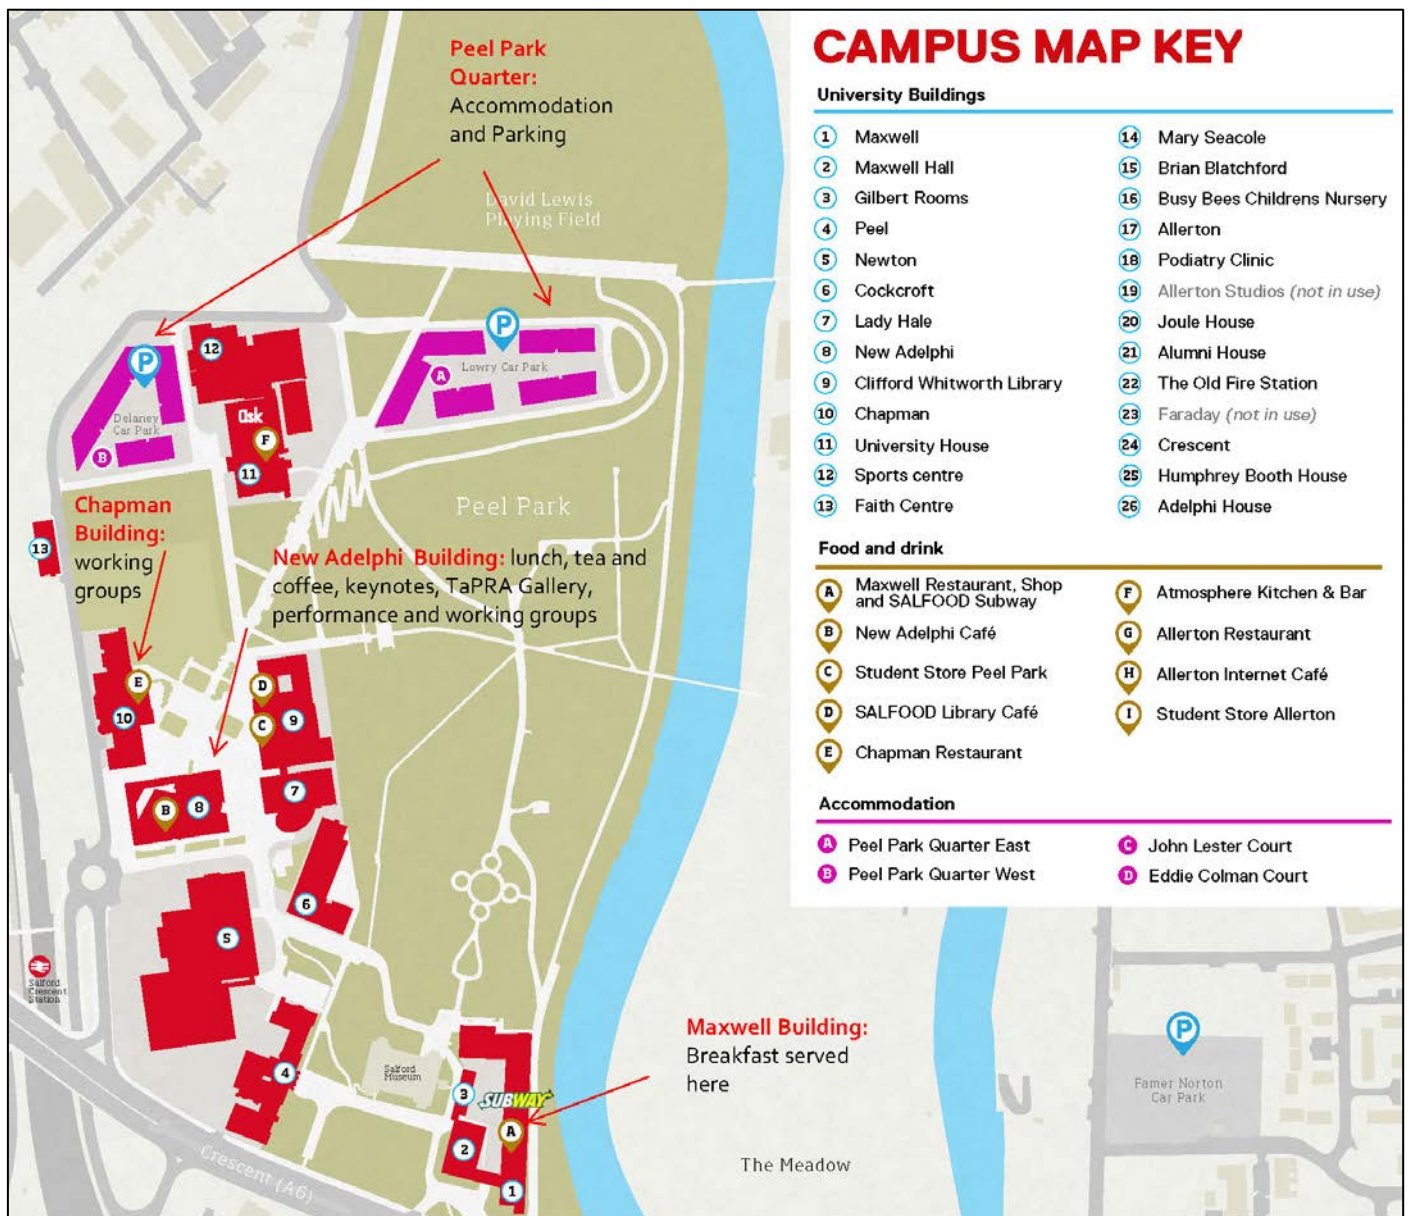

Have a wonderful conference,

Jo and Sheila (conference conveners)

Dr Jo Scott, Lecturer in Performance, University of Salford

Dr Sheila McCormick, Lecturer in Performance, University of Salford

Wi-Fi Access

All delegates will be provided with a guest username and password on arriving at the conference – you will find this on the back of your name badge. This allows you to log onto our PCs and you can also access the university Wi-Fi, through selecting 'UoS-Wifi' network and entering your username and password. Your device should reconnect automatically around the University campus.

Eduroam is also available. Connect to this network with your home credentials.

Getting Around

The University's Peel Park campus is located to the North West of the city of Manchester and to the North East of Salford Quays and MediaCityUK. You can walk into Manchester along The Crescent/Chapel Street in 20-25 minutes and to the Quays in about 30 minutes. There are also excellent public transport links.

Trains from Salford Crescent, which is right next to New Adelphi, run regularly to central Manchester – get off at Deansgate, Oxford Road or Piccadilly. Most of the buses that stop just outside the Peel Park campus, on The Crescent, head into Manchester. The following buses go into central Manchester – 8, 34, 36, 37, 38, 50, 67, 100, 50. Just check at the bus stop for their specific routes or go to www.tgfm.com.

All conference activity will take place in the New Adelphi and Chapman Buildings (see Campus Map above). Rooms are clearly signposted in each building. Please see the map above for the location of the accommodation and follow the main path through the campus to reach the Peel Park Quarter buildings

Local taxis: Streetcars – 0161 228 7878, Quays Taxis – 0161 660 6666, Swan Cars 0161 736 6000

Food and Drink on Campus

Throughout the conference, tea, coffee and lunch will all be served in the ground floor atrium of the New Adelphi Building. The wine reception on the first evening will also take place in the atrium. Lunch will be served in brown bags, so please feel free to take a bag and eat in any of the spaces available, around and outside New Adelphi (weather permitting...). There is seating on the ground floor, first and third floors and a few more seats on floors above and outside the building, near the Engels' Beard sculpture. Breakfast, for those who have booked it, is served in the main café in the Maxwell Building, at the front of the campus, next to Peel Park and the Crescent (see campus map above). Breakfast will be available from 7.30am- 9am, each morning

There is also a café in New Adelphi on the ground floor, which is open from 8.30am-3pm and serves teas, coffees, sandwiches and light lunches. Other supplies are available from the campus shop – C on the campus map above. It is open from 9am-4pm and sells various items, including booze!

Conference Dinner and Northern Soul Disco

The conference dinner on Thursday night is in the Compass Room in the Lowry Theatre on Salford Quays, next to MediaCityUK. The evening includes a drinks reception and three-course meal, with a half bottle of wine for all attendees and tea/coffee. This will be followed by a Northern Soul disco, so bring your dancing shoes... To get to the Lowry, cross the main road at the front of the campus (The Crescent) to catch the number 50 bus, which will take you to Salford Quays/MediaCityUK. <https://www.thelowry.com/plan-your-visit/find-us> The number 50 bus route ends on the bridge over the quays, which is just in front of the main entrance of the theatre. Once in the theatre, make your way up the escalator to the first floor where the drinks reception is being held.

Eating and Drinking in Salford and Manchester

There are many places to eat, drink and be merry in Manchester and Salford. The following websites give you a more comprehensive sense of your options and below are a few tips from our staff, focusing on Salford and parts of Manchester:

<http://manchesterrestaurants.com>

<https://www.visitmanchester.com/food-and-drink>

<http://www.visitsalford.info/eating.htm>

Salford (Chapel Street area)

Vero Moderno: <http://www.veromoderno.co.uk> –

This restaurant serves tasty, fresh Italian food and yummy cocktails. Limited space, so book in advance.

The New Oxford: <http://thenewoxford.com> - A

Salford institution, this pub is situated on historic Bexley Square behind Salford Cathedral. Ali says:

'Great Belgian and craft beers, warm atmosphere and outdoor seating!'

The King's Arms: <http://www.kingsarmssalford.com>

- This Victorian pub is another great Salford boozier, complete with snug, beer garden and an upstairs theatre space.

Salford (Quays/MediaCityUK)

There are plenty of places to eat, in and around MediaCityUK, though these are mainly chain restaurants. A couple of recommendations are below:

The Dockyard – As the pub just next door to ITV and the BBC, you'll be dodging your way around media-types and the place is often heaving (and very loud) at the weekends. Good beer and cheap pies are available.

Prezzo – The annual venue for the performance directorate, post-graduation meal. Reliable and tasty Italian food, reasonably priced.

Deansgate, Spinningfields, Corn Exchange and Around

Dimitri's: <http://www.dimitris.co.uk>– Greek and Mediterranean options in a lively taverna/restaurant, just off the Deansgate

Don Marco's: <http://www.donmarcomanchester.co.uk> - Right next to Dimitri's, Don Marco's has good Italian food and a great atmosphere

Piccolino: Clarence Street M2 – Lisa says: 'the best Italian food and beautiful surroundings'

Iberica: <http://www.ibericarestaurants.com/restaurants/iberica-spinningfields-manchester/> – Very good tapas/Spanish food and good wine – quite pricey, but great views over Spinningfields from the top floor

HOME: www.homemcr.org – A lovely, open bar and restaurant area, alongside a gallery, cinemas and theatres. Lisa says: 'great food and bags of theatre or film and general fabulousness'

Sakana: <http://www.sakanapan-asian.co.uk> - Ali says: 'Delicious Southeast Asian and Japanese food, beautifully presented'

Grindsmith: Café on Deansgate, also available at MediaCity – Ali says: 'for artisan coffee palates - good flat whites and a suitably industrialist aesthetic'

The Corn Exchange is full of restaurants, including Wahaca, Pho and Mowgli:

<https://cornexchangemanchester.co.uk>

Chinatown, the Northern Quarter and Ancoats

Rudy's: <http://rudyspizza.co.uk> - Neapolitan pizzas, with the tastiest bases. No prior bookings, so just turn up and put your name on the list. The Seven Brothers Beerhouse is just over the square, if you have to wait.

Luke says: 'Rudy's pizza is like a little slice of being on holiday. The pizza is delicious and freshly made in a proper pizza oven. Sit at the kitchen bar with a decent bottle of red for maximum effect.'

Bundobust: <http://bundobust.com/manchester/> - A new vegetarian Indian street food and craft beer joint, which is getting rave reviews!

Luck, Lust, Liquor & Burn: <http://lucklustliquorburn.com> - Decent Mexican food in a trendy NQ venue

Common: <http://www.aplacecalledcommon.co.uk> - Large, airy café-bar, in the heart of the Northern Quarter, serving food and drinks throughout the day

Phetpailin: George Street M1 - Thai food in the heart of Chinatown. Clare says: 'I love Phetpailin restaurant in Chinatown. It's good value, fresh, yummy Thai food with a BYOB policy-great for cheap and cheerful eats'

TNQ: <https://www.tnq.co.uk> - A modern British restaurant and multiple award winner. Lisa says: 'excellent fresh produce - great chef'

Odd Bar: <http://www.oddbar.co.uk> - A fun little bar, with good beers and plenty of cocktails

Oak Street Café: <http://www.craftanddesign.com/oak-st-cafe-bar/> - A lovely café in the craft and design centre. On the Craft Centre, Tracy says: 'unique items by local independent artists and some gorgeous jewellery'

Crown and Kettle, Oldham Road: - Luke says: 'The Crown and Kettle is a great pub that serves primo cask

Jo's selection of other great pubs in Salford/Manchester (guided pub crawls available on request...)

The Gas Lamp: Bridge Street M3 – This former children's mission – now basement bar - has an excellent selection of beers and a unique atmosphere, with pictures from its former life across the tiled walls

The Marble Arch: Rochdale Road M4 – Serving delectable Marble Brewery beers (the Earl Grey IPA is wonderful, but far too strong...), this beautiful Victorian pub has a great atmosphere and good food too. Don't be put off by it being stuck out on Rochdale Road – it's not too far from the Northern Quarter!

The Cask: Liverpool Road M3 – Good beer and a great jukebox – who needs more?

The Knott: <http://knottbar.co.uk> – Sink an IPA as the Deansgate trains rumble over your head: A lively pub that also serves well-priced food.

Smithfield Tavern: Swan Street M4 - Owned by Manchester brewery, Blackjack, there is a great beer selection here and a lively, but relaxed atmosphere

Pilcrow Pub: <http://www.thepilcrowpub.com> – The Pilcrow is a timber-clad pub, built from scratch by volunteers in a series of workshops. An excellent, if pricey selection of beers is available

The Eagle: <http://eagleinn.info> - This pub sits just off the busy Trinity Way in Salford, but right on the edge of Manchester. It has decent beer, a couple of back rooms and a great little gig venue. Also, comes with a better than average chance of bumping into Guy Garvey (of Elbow)

Port Street Beer House: <http://www.portstreetbeerhouse.co.uk> - The original craft beer joint in the city, in a cosy venue in the Northern Quarter

The Star on the Cliff: <http://www.staronthecliff.co.uk> - A final shout-out for the first co-operatively owned urban pub in the country! A bit out of town in Higher Broughton (up the river from the university) – one for the adventurers

Keynote Address: Alistair McDowall, ‘The Importance of Story’

Alistair McDowall is a playwright. His acclaimed plays include Brilliant Adventures (Live Theatre/Royal Exchange, 2013), Captain Amazing (Live Theatre, 2013), Talk Show (Royal Court, 2013), Pomona (Orange Tree, 2014), X (Royal Court, 2016) and Zero for the Young Dudes! (NT Connections, 2017). He has been acclaimed as one of the most exciting and original playwrights of the decade; Brilliant Adventures was the winner of the 2011 Bruntwood Prize and Pomona transferred from the Orange Tree to the National Theatre and then to the Royal Exchange, Manchester. He grew up in the North East of England and now lives in Manchester.

Conference Performance: Take Back Theatre, Ten Takes on Resistance

We are delighted to host Take Back Theatre - www.takebacktheatre.com - in a specially commissioned 'Ten Takes' performance. Take Back have had a busy year, responding to the political upheaval of 2016. Here they gather together work from their Ten Takes on Togetherness and, most recently, Ten Takes on America.

Ten Takes on Resistance will take place in the New Adelphi Theatre on Wednesday 30th August at 6.30pm. Alongside the performance, Take Back present their audio installation Under Canvas in a specially designated space within the New Adelphi building. The installation will be on display throughout the conference, from Wednesday 30th August to Friday 1st September.

David Bradby Memorial Lecture: Professor Sally Mackey

Performing places: anatria, time and the new global

The David Bradby Memorial Award, 2016, was given for Challenging concepts of 'liquid' place through performing practices in community contexts (Challenging Place) and its outputs, a three-year AHRC research project that I ran as PI. In articulating and interrogating the work of the project in this paper, I take my cue from the judges' comments who suggested that the work demanded 'a new way to occupy space and identify the place of the theatre and performance research community in today's lived experiences'. Eliding theories of place with socially engaged performance in practical research, Challenging Place asked questions about place and its performance whilst working with 'vulnerable' participant groups. The first part of this paper will reflect on the substance of both Challenging Place and its recently completed follow-on AHRC project, Performing Local Places. Attending in particular to the subversion and disruption of place, I will suggest the term 'anatria' to describe contemporary understandings of place arising from an out-of-joint approach to performing place.

If the first part of the paper draws upon conceits or theoretical pockets that inspired the thinking and doing of the two Place projects, from Edward Casey to Ash Amin, in the second part of the paper I articulate how I am considering place and its performance now, beyond these research projects. Here, I will raise two broad theoretical and experiential areas, 'time' and current global change or 'the new global', concluding with a final example of highly local place performance. Throughout the paper, I take as axiomatic the constitutive methodological and disciplinary fields of practice-based research and applied theatre.

Sally Mackey is Professor of Applied Theatre and Performance at The Royal Central School of Speech and Drama, University of London where she founded the first UK undergraduate degree in applied theatre. On the editorial board of RiDE: the Journal of Applied Performance and Theatre and advisory board of Applied Theatre Research, at one point in TaPRA's history she co-convened the Applied and Social Theatre working group. Reflecting a related interest in theatre ecology, she was a member of the Arts and Humanities Research Council (AHRC) commissioning panel for the major themes of 'Landscape and Environment' and 'Living with Environmental Change' and the cross RCUK panel 'Valuing Nature: Health and Wellbeing'. Publishing on performance, place, community and the environment, she has co-edited themed editions in RiDE, 'On Site and Place' and 'Environmentalism' and has completed outputs from three AHRC grants in the last few years: Challenging Place, Performing Local Places and Performing Abergavenny (the latter an AHRC Connected Communities award). Currently she is co-editing the new Palgrave series Performing Landscapes with Deirdre Heddon, writing Performing Landscapes: Homes and working on new projects with UK councils after her most recent AHRC grant, Performing Local Places.

TaPRA Gallery

This year, we invited proposals to exhibit audiovisual, digital and analogue documentation of PAR projects across theatre and performance disciplines in the TaPRA Gallery. We were particularly interested in documentation that activates the user/viewer in some way – through invigilated instructions, mediated cues, interactive clues, or some other means of navigation. Selected proposals often focus specifically on the relationship between a project's methodology and the way(s) in which it is or was documented. In placing practices and their concomitant questions in proximity, we hope to encourage discussion around the curatorial presentation of practice as research for both live events and evaluation/legacy. We hope you enjoy the diverse range of materials, films and interactions on offer.

Dr. Alison E. Matthews, TaPRA 2017 Gallery curator and co-convenor of the University of Salford Practice as Research Centre of Excellence

Schedule (all events take place in the Studio Theatre, on the ground floor of New Adelphi)

Day 1:

2pm: Gallery opens to all attendees

Day 2:

11.30am-1pm: TaPRA Gallery Talks – Panel #1 (see schedule on p.35)

1-2pm: Lunchtime Screening #1: Stacie Lee Bennett, Physical Actor Training: An Online A-Z documentary

Day 3:

10.30am-12 noon: TaPRA Gallery Talks – Panel #2 (see schedule on p.37)

1-2pm: Lunchtime Screening #2: Karen Jaundrill Scott, PaR Film Disco(urse)

TaPRA Executive Curated Panel

'Stages of Inclusion', Thursday 31st August, New Adelphi Theatre: 5.30-6.30pm

The TaPRA Panel, curated by the Irish Society for Theatre Research

Chaired by Siobhan O'Gorman (University of Lincoln), this panel will consider some of the key issues in contemporary Irish theatre and research. Miriam Houghton (NUIG) will discuss the Waking the Feminists movement; Charlotte McIvor (NUIG) will consider migration and Irish theatre in the context of intersectional feminisms; and Michael Fineran (Head of Theatre at MIC, University of Limerick) will look at the social turn in Irish theatre and performance.

Postgraduate Events

Informal TaPRA Social: Tuesday 29th August, 7.30pm onwards

For delegates arriving early to the TaPRA Conference 2017, we invite you to join us for an informal conference social at The Dockyard from 7.30pm onwards.

Venue details: The Dockyard <http://www.dockyard.pub/spinningfields-home-page/>

Introductory Postgraduate Meeting: Wednesday 30th August 2017, 12pm-1pm

New Adelphi – Rehearsal Room 1 (Ground Floor)

This open forum allows new and returning postgraduates and early career researchers to connect with their peers, to informally discuss shared interests and to find out a bit more about TaPRA and this year's conference. Be prepared to summarise your research for our annual networking session! Feel free to bring business cards if you have them.

Lunch will be provided in the venue.

Postgraduate Panel Session: Thursday 31st August – 1pm-2pm

New Adelphi – Rehearsal Room 2 (7th Floor)

Research Funding - a Post-Brexit strategy, Dr. Duška Radosavljević, Dr. Jo Scott

Lunch will be provided in the venue.

This session will focus on PhD scholarships and postdoc research funding, exploring practical post-Brexit strategies and potential opportunities within the UK, the EU, as well as internationally. Our speakers will explore a range of sources and modes of funding including making the most of institutional support within your university with a view to forming an external bid, and potential avenues that one might explore internationally. After the presentations, there will be ample time for questions and for discussion. And (just in case you missed it) lunch will be provided!

Jo Scott is an intermedial practitioner-researcher and lecturer in performance at the University of Salford, UK. She completed a Practice-as-Research PhD in October 2014, which was published as a Palgrave Pivot monograph in 2016, titled Intermedial Praxis and PaR. She is currently working on a research project, exploring the intersection of intermedial practices and the shifting environment of contemporary Salford, as well as writing chapters for the forthcoming edited collection, Intermedial Theatre: Principles and Practice (Palgrave 2018). Jo is co-convener of the Practice as Research Centre of Excellence at the University of Salford and co-convener of the TaPRA Performance and New Technologies Working Group.
