Welcome and introduction to Music at University of Salford

Director for Music & Dance Tim France and academic staff from your programme will provide an overview of your course.

2:15pm-3:00pm

Student stories and Q&A

We will introduce to you three students who represent our three programmes, who will tell you about their life in Salford and their progression and development through the courses.

They will play extracts of their music, explaining more about the recording facilities and the benefits of interacting with others within this exciting and diverse department.

Musicology is also an important subject area for us and the students will highlight the appropriation of this towards dissertation, research and the understanding of their other modules

3:00pm-4:00pm

Live music performance

A chance to have a listen to our students performing their own material. A key aspect to our teaching is that we encourage students to write original material that feeds directly into the bands they want to create.

All our rehearsal facilities are in the same building and new equipment is provided every year, with our students taking up the many opportunities available to them as live performers, regardless of genre or style.
